HISTORY OF CAPE CANAVERAL

The City of Cape Canaveral, is located in the fastest growing county in Florida — Brevard County. This area has become known throughout the world as Spaceport, U. S. A.

The City lies directly south and adjacent to the Cape Kennedy Space Center — launch pad to the moon. In 1574 when Ponce de Leon was searching Florida for the "Fountain of Youth" we are sure that he found Cape Canaveral closest to his dreams.

"Canaveral" translated from the Spanish means "canebrake" and was so called by Menendez, the first Governor of Florida because of the sugarcane raised here by the large settlement of Ays Indians, the first "citizens" of the Cape.

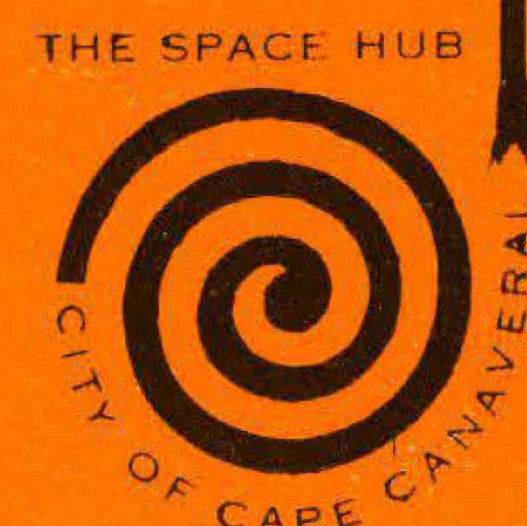

The Spanish used the harbor as a refuge from tropical storms and today the area is a refuge used by many to escape the rigors of the cold, northern climates.

The ideal climate of Cape Canaveral ranges from an average high of 81 degrees to a comfortable low average of 62 degrees, with an annual rainfall of 50 inches, making these conditions excellent for the growing of citrus, tropical gardens and lawns.

Throughout Cape Canaveral and surrounding areas is the best salt water trout fishing. From an 800 foot fishing pier extending into the Atlantic Ocean surf, from the sand beaches of the ocean, in the rivers and canals, catches of blues, drum, sheepshead, whiting, trout, pompano and tarpon abound to lure the avid fisherman. St. John's River provides some of the finest fresh water fishing to be found anywhere. Large mouth bass, shad, pickerel, bream and bluegills are abundant. Evenings, the residents and visitors jig for flounder and dip net the fabulous local shrimp and crabs.

All this is Cape Canaveral By the Sea - The Space Hub - A vacation wonderland, an ideal place to visit or to live — from the unspoiled waterways and tropical trails to the scientific wonders of man all are at your doorstep in the City of Cape Canaveral, Florida.
